A foot care nurse is a licensed RN/RPN who has taken specialized training in foot care. They work along with a team of health care professionals such as family doctors, podiatrists, chiropractors, physiotherapists, and others to keep a person mobile and decrease the risk of developing foot complications. A footcare nurse will do an assessment of your feet for circulation, swelling, edema, sensation or any skin disorders. They will look at the overall health and condition of your feet. They will advise, and offer health education for the management of any nail or foot conditions you may have. They do cutting and filing of nails, removal of calluses, corns and ingrown toenails. They will use an antibacterial softener solution to prevent infection and contamination. All of the equipment they use is sterile for your protection and safety. If you would like to book an appointment with a licensed footcare nurse, please contact Angeline Alajar to book an appointment.

From the Chaplain's Desk

"You were made for friendship with God."

A very familiar song that we often sing is "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" God does not just want us to know about him; he wants us to know him and to experience his friendship. I read about Jonathan Edwards who urges us to "Let it be our first love to enter into an everlasting friendship with Christ that never shall be broken" The gospel calls us to trust Jesus as our Savior, submit to him as our King, and value him as our Treasure. It also calls us to enjoy him as our friend. But do you view him this way? What does it mean for him to be our truest friend, and how do we experience his friendship?

Jesus Gladly Calls Us Friends: Jesus gathered his disciples one last time, on the night before his death, to prepare them for the next day and beyond. In the midst of this sacred evening he said, "No longer do I call you servants, for the servant does not know what his master is doing; but I have called you friends, for all that I have heard from my Father I have made known to you" John 15:15. To be called Jesus's servant is an immeasurable privilege. Yet Jesus confers a greater honor. He brings us even closer. He calls us friends.

"You were made for friendship with God."

Two pieces of evidence show his sincerity. First, he opened his heart with transparency. While a master doesn't tell his servant what he's doing, Jesus revealed his Father's will to us. And he would send his Spirit to ensure that all future disciples would hear these words John 14:26; 16:12-15. Second, the cross proves his friendship. He said, "Greater love has no one than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends" John 15:13. He wanted his disciples to see the cross and think: I understand now: He substituted himself for me under God's wrath, and he did it because he views me as his treasured friend. He wants us to view the cross as an affection-filled sacrifice for friends. Friendship is in the deepest heart of Christ and it's at the very center of the gospel.

He Is Not only Our King or only Our Friend. Yet for some, friendship with Jesus seems to diminish his glory. I've often heard the sentiment, "Jesus is not our friend; he's our King." But we don't have to choose, because both are true, Jesus is our exalted king and he is our truest friend. This doesn't minimize his glory; it magnifies it, because it displays the immeasurable riches of his grace. Ephesians 1: 6,7. Only grace explains the sovereign King welcoming sinners as his friends.

But does relating to Jesus as a friend diminish his authority in our lives? Not at all, because when he calls us friends, he still remains our King. He said, "You are my friends if you do what I command you" John 15:14. Jesus tells us to obey him; we never tell him to obey us. And our obedience doesn't earn, but rather, proves, our friendship with him.
