Chaplain's Corner

We lost a dear friend and brother in the Lord last weekend, August 15. He was a joy to get to know. He lived his life for the Lord, served God as best he could and was one to encourage everyone who knew him. He demonstrated a positive and joyful attitude, regardless of what our experience in life might be.

For him, things couldn't be better. Now he is healed, enjoying the presence of the Lord, and enjoying being with those who have gone ahead of him to the eternal home in glory. It is as the song writer says, "What a day that will be when my Jesus I shall see, And I look upon His face, the One who saved me by His grace; when He takes me by the hand, and leads me through the Promised Land, what a day, glorious day that will be."

He was ready and waiting for that day. Unfortunately, there are many, even in our city and community, who cannot look forward to that guaranteed fact of life, death. That is so because they have not made that commitment to be obedient to the call of Christ. Jesus said: "Come to me, all who are weary and heavy-laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from Me, for I am gentle and humble in heart; and you shall find rest for your souls. For My yoke is easy, and My load is light" (Matt 11:28-30).

When a friend or relative dies, man will often assess their own view of death and response to the call of Christ to his/her life. To accept the fact of death and its eternal outcome moves a person to a deeper commitment to the Jesus who conquered death and the grave. But the person who fights the fact of death and can't accept the fact that regardless of what he thinks about death, death will still come. Then our gambling with death will result in our defeat and loss of the joy we could experience as John says in Revelation 21:4, "He will wipe every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying or pain, for the old order of thing has passed away." He was ready to die. For us, the ultimate question remains, what have I done with Jesus?
